

ABSTRACT

A removable memory card and an associated read/write device and its method of operation are disclosed. The memory card may be formed of a sheet of chalcogenide glass material which has memory storage locations therein defined by the locations of conductive read/write elements of the read/write device.

200220"482/001